

BOISE STATE UNIVERSITY

University Policy 1020

Public Records Management

Effective Date

July 1987

Last Revision Date

September 19, 2022

Responsible Party

Office of the General Counsel, (208) 426-1203

Special Collections and Archives, Albertsons Library, (208) 426-3958

Scope and Audience

This policy applies to Public Records of the University.

This policy does not apply to records which do not relate to the conduct or administration of the University's business. Some files and correspondence of faculty and staff of the University do not pertain to their work at the University and are not, by law, regarded as Public Records.

Accordingly, such records are not required to be managed according to this policy; however, faculty and staff are encouraged to offer non-public records to University Archives so that materials having historical or research value may be permanently preserved in the University Archives.

Any questions about whether a record is a Public Record or a non-public record should be directed to the Office of General Counsel.

Additional Authority

- Idaho Code § 33-2505B
- Idaho Code Title 74, Chapter 1 (Idaho Public Records Act)

- State of Idaho Records Manual
 - State of Idaho General Records Retention Schedule
 - Idaho State Board of Education - Higher Education Records Retention Schedule
 - University Policy 1030 (Litigation Hold)
 - University Policy 8060 (Information Privacy and Data Security)

1. Policy Purpose

To outline the appropriate retention, storage, archiving, and disposal of Public Records.

2. Policy Statement

The University is committed to effective records management to meet legal requirements, ensure security of confidential information, dispose of obsolete records, and preserve institutional history.

3. Definitions

3.1 Public Record

Any record, regardless of form or characteristic, which relates to the conduct or administration of the University's business and is prepared, owned, used, or retained by the University.

Provided, however, that personal notes created by a University employee solely for their own use shall not be a Public Record as long as such personal notes are not shared with any other person or entity.

3.2 Office of Record

Division, college, department, office, or other unit which is responsible for managing the applicable record(s).

4. Employee Responsibilities

- a. Every University employee creates Public Records and has a responsibility for their management.
- b. Individual employees are responsible for:

- Sharing and/or storing Public Records in a manner that their office, department, college, division, or other unit could access them in the employee's absence if needed to conduct the University's business
- Sharing and/or storing Public Records in a manner that would allow their office, department, college, division, or other unit to comply with their applicable responsibilities (see Section 5)
- Ensuring that Public Records which contain sensitive and/or confidential information are securely stored and access is appropriately restricted. See Policy 8060 (Information Privacy and Data Security) for more detail
- Ensuring the proper disposal of Public Records (see Section 7)

5. Office of Record Responsibilities

Each Office of Record is responsible for:

- Organizing their Public Records in a manner that their employees may easily store and access them
- Organizing their Public Records in a manner that they may promptly comply with requests for Public Records as outlined in University Policy 1040 (Public Records Requests)
- Ensuring that their Public Records which contain sensitive and/or confidential information are securely stored and access is appropriately restricted. See Policy 8060 (Information Privacy and Data Security) for more detail
- Organizing their Public Records in a manner that they may accurately retain them (see Section 6)
- Determining whether their Public Records should be retained permanently (see Section 6.3)
- Transferring their Public Records determined for permanent retention to University Archives unless a different office is identified in the University Retention Schedule below (Appendix A) (see Section 6.3)
- Ensuring the proper disposal of Public Records (see Section 7)

6. Retention of Public Records

6.1 Responsible Office

- a. Each Office of Record is responsible for retaining their respective Public Records as indicated on the University Retention Schedule below (Appendix A).
- b. If a particular type of record is not identified on the University Retention Schedule below (Appendix A), the Office of Record should consult the State of Idaho General Records Retention Schedule and/or the Idaho State Board of Education -Higher Education Records Retention Schedule.
- c. If a question remains about what type of record the Public Record is after consulting the retention schedules, the Office of Record should seek advice from the Office of General Counsel.
- d. An Office of Record may transfer Public Records to the University warehouse for retention by submitting a Record Retention Request.

6.2 Retention Time Periods

- a. Public Records should be maintained for the minimum time periods required to fulfill official functions. Such time periods are broadly outlined in the University Retention Schedule below (see Appendix A) and are more fully outlined in the State of Idaho General Records Retention Schedule and/or the Idaho State Board of Education -Higher Education Records Retention Schedule. Some records must be retained permanently (see Section 6.3).
- b. Certain time periods for retention are required by relevant federal laws and/or regulations and are incorporated into the University Retention Schedule below (Appendix A).
- c. The Office of General Counsel may, at their discretion, place a litigation hold on any Public Record. In that case, the retention time period for those records will be suspended, and disposal will not take place until the litigation hold is removed (see University Policy 1030 - Litigation Hold).

6.3 Determining Records for Permanent Retention

- a. Records should be retained permanently if they have administrative, legal, fiscal, or historical significance to the University.

- b. The Office of Record will determine permanent retention in accordance with the University Retention Schedule below (see Appendix A), the State of Idaho General Records Retention Schedule, and/or the Idaho State Board of Education - Higher Education Records Retention Schedule.
- c. If a particular type of record is not identified in any Schedule, or the Office of Record believes there is an exception, or a question remains about whether a record should be permanently retained, the Office of Record should seek advice from the Head of Special Collections and Archives for a final decision.

6.4 Transfer to the University Archives

Records determined for permanent retention must be transferred to the University Archives, unless a different office is identified in the University Retention Schedule below (Appendix A). Contact the Head of Special Collections and Archives to arrange transfer of records.

6.5 Boise State University Publications

The Head of Special Collections and Archives will submit any University publications to the Idaho Commission for Libraries in accordance with Idaho Code § 33-2505B.

7. Disposal of Records

- a. Once Public Records have been retained for the minimum time period required, they should be deleted or destroyed unless they have been determined for permanent retention (see Section 6.3).
 - Public Records of a non-sensitive, non-confidential nature may be disposed of by any means appropriate such as deleting or recycling.
 - Public Records of a sensitive and/or confidential nature must be destroyed by shredding, incineration, or in such a manner that they cannot be retrieved or recreated using reasonable means. An Office of Record may request disposal of Public Records by the University warehouse by submitting a Document Disposal Request.
- b. Public Records of administrative, legal, fiscal, or historical significance to the University should be transferred to University Archives, unless a different office is identified in the University Retention Schedule below (Appendix A) (see Section 6.4).
